

Q: I am obtaining a temporary license to assist during COVID-19, but where do I go to obtain employment?

A: The CLPNNL is responsible for the licensure of LPNs, but not for establishing employment. We do not keep a list of available positions; however, the public health emergency requires that we do what we can to assist. We suggest you connect with the RHA or other LPN employers in your area to see if they are hiring. You might connect with your former manager if you recently retired or left the employment area. Consider connecting with private long-term care or personal care facilities. When we have requests from employers to post their employment information we will do so.

The following employers have asked CLPNNL to post their LPN position vacancies during the COVID-19 public health emergency:
