Criminal Record Check and Vulnerable Sector Check

The CLPNNL's mandate of public protection is upheld by ensuring that all LPNs in the province meet the requirements for registration and annual licensure. The LPN Regulations (2011) set out the following:

Section 3. The requirements and qualifications for a license to practice as a practical nurse, in addition to those set out in section 12 of the Act, are

(e) Provision of evidence of good character satisfactory to the Board.

A person applying to become licensed to practice nursing in Newfoundland and Labrador must provide evidence of good character satisfactory to the Board. The CLPNNL requires applicants to submit a current Criminal Record Check and a Vulnerable Sector Check as evidence of good character.

A Criminal Record Check includes a summary of an individual's offence convictions and non-convictions that are releasable in accordance with legislation. The vulnerable sector check looks specifically at crimes involving vulnerable populations.
